WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)— The text of Hugh S. Johnson's letter to President Roosevelt, submitting night's reply and likewise once more harked back to a supplemental re-port to the first report, made by Wil-liam O. Thompson and Darrow which said that there existed only a choice his reply to the criticism of NRA made in the second report of the between socialism and government sustained monopoly. 'Inaccuracies' of

of each deputy concerned.

The report is even more inaccurate and inconsequential than the first. Perhaps the most significant fact about the whole procedure is a June 23 press release by the board to the effect that it has received 600 complaints in three months. We know that some of these complaints are on codes not yet approved and on provisions not effective.

Yet taken at its face, there are Yet, taken at its face, there are more than 2,500,000 concerns operating under codes. The ratio of more than 2,500,000 concerns operating under codes. The ratio of complaint: therefore, is six out of eyery 25,000 or 90 76-100 per cent of non-complainants. This circumstance taken with a study of the report itself adds confidence rather than misgivings of NRA.

ASBESTOS CODE ATTACK
DECLARED GROUNDLESS.

The report attacks the asbestos

The report attacks the asbestos code and bases the attack on provisions never yet approved and, therefore, non-existent. At the board's hearing only two members attended and one of them admitted that he id one of them admitted that he id never read the code itself but ally complaints about the code. Its attack on the bedding code.

Its attack on the bedding code, which it says oppresses the little fellow, is based on the fact that the code does not permit any fellow-big or little—to make bedding out of unsanitary second-hand material and sell it to the poor as new.

One of its two attacks on the boot and shoe code was that it did not shorten the credit terms existing in the industry wing to the code. the industry prior to the code. Over violent protest of its consumers' ad-visory board. NRA tried to per-suade the industry to do this. These long existing terms favor consumers and better-financed companies. A change would favor companies with less capital, but this is not the kind of provision NRA has any right to

of provision NRA has and impose.

CODE CHANGE IS LAID
TO "MYSTERIOUS AGENCY."

The other of these two attacks was on a clause curtailing the number of style shows, shoe fairs and other exhibitions sponsored by associations and in practice obligatory entailing heavy fees. This is a racked at the said to have cost the industry et said to have cost the board's statement. other exhibitions sponsored by asso-ciations and in practice obligatory entailing heavy fees. This is a rack-et said to have cost the industry $2,000.000 a year. On these two charges the boot and shoe code is viciously attacked. As an added fil-lip, is a statement that some "un-revealed and mysterious agency" changed the code. The record shows this to be a fabrication out of the this to be a fabrication out of the whole cloth.

In attacking the cement code, the report says that it was seized by pow erful interests to extend their power and multiply their profits. Profits have declined under the code and there has been no increase in price. The report says the cement institute is a steering committee of large com-panies. All but two out of 165 ce-ment mills are members and each member has one vote-regardless of size. One of the two non-members

IN CEMENT INDUSTRY.

The report's statement that the larger companies dominate the code authority is the exact reverse of truth. Out of seven members, four represent six mills with not over 4 ner cent of the production and the largest company has no representative at all. The majority of the electors of the code authority represent 11.3 per cent of its productive capacity. The code authority is in the control of small companies.

A statement that the cement code

A statement that the cement code did not include distributors is suffi-ciently answered by the fact that it is a manufacturer's code. Distributors are under another code. The manufacturers could not have included them. The report implies that there is allocation of business in the industry by reason of the code. Such industry by reason of the code. Such is simply not the fact.

Because the president may be petitioned to preyent construction of new capacity, the board concludes that control of the industry by large companies is "now fairly complete"—a statement which speaks for itself. There have been only two such petitions and NRA denied both before they ever got to the president.

BASING POINTS MADE

TARGET OF ATTACK.

There is a similar innuendo about basing points in the industry—but the code provides for no basing points. So much for the attack on the cement code—not one accurate or consequential statement to support a violent attack and conclusion of monopoly.

In attacking the coffee code, the board found that it limits "loss leaders." This is solely for the protection of small enterprise and is generally so regarded. A firm which prepares coffee adulterants complained that its business was hurt by a provision requiring that the presence of adulterants be stated on coffee of adulterants be stated on coffee labels. The board proposed an amendment to accommodate him and intimated that large manufacturers are not required to show the presence of chicory. The board should read the pure food and drugs act. The code also requires a similar showing.

code also requires a similar showing.

The report on the retail code imputes sinister control of NRA itself and implies corruption on the sole charge that provisions of the code were "surrentitiously" changed at the behest of some great interest.

CLAIMS AUTHORSHIP OF DISPUTED WORD.

As I have repeatedly and public-ly said (both at the time the code was approved and since). I wrote the word, "inaccurately" into the adthe word, "inaccurately" into the advertising clause so that it would not prevent an advertiser from telling the truth. The change was in my handwriting, was called to your attention at the time you signed the code, was reported at once to the industry, was my decision on a point over which there had been weeks of wrangling and on which I and more than one NRA department had devoted hours of study and hearing, and the change was well known to the code committee. This charge is pure nonsense and, like the one discussed in the next paragraph, reduces to the fact that the industry did not get all it asked for.

to the fact that the industry did not get all it asked for.

It is also asserted that the loss leader limitation provision that the industry sought was surrepitiously changed. That is not true. It was suspended and you will personally recall the hours of argument with various cabinet members and other government officials that we had about it in your office before we could all agree on an acceptable provision which was finally accorded.

CounselSharplyCriticizes Board's Attitude on Recent Changes in NRA Policies.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)— The text of Donald R. Richberg's summary of the NRA reply to the Darrow review board's second report follows:

The board expressed its pleasure and congratulates the NRA upon what it calls an "acceptance" of many of the recommendations of the board embodied in its first report. "To avoid public misuederstanding, we should explain that the NRA has not accepted the recommendations of the board in its first report that we To avoid public misunderstanding, we should explain that the NRA has not accepted the recommendations of the board in its first report that we abandon our effort to make competition fair, nor the recommendation that we choose "between monopoly sustained by government . . and a planned economy, which demands socialized ownership and control."

> Even though the first report of the review board was productive of heat rather than light, all concerned should be pleased to know that the should be pleased to know that the board is beginning to see the light. Perhaps, before its labors are concluded, the board will furnish its answer to the knotty question as to how industry should be operated to produce high wages for labor, low prices for consumers and at the same time protect those small enterprises which can only survive by paying low wages and charging high prices. low wages and charging high prices. The NRA would welcome an authoritative answer to this question.

FINDING OF BOARD DRAWS CAUSTIC COMMENT.

The detailed findings and reco mendations of the review board fol low its previous practice of avoiding any restrained judicial comment. 1—Because of some confusion a proper influence are prought. It is typical of the unfairness, untruth, temper, spirit and utter worthlessness of these reports.

The lumber code report is simply a succession of disagreements of the review board with NRA's determina-tion on several debatable economic isproposed merchandising plan in the asbestos code, brakelining division, the board finds that "the existence of the board finds that 'the existence than farfact is that the "merchandising plan" has not yet been approved—and any plan which may be approved to prevent destructive price cutting would sues. The records show that the code has record 2000 little fellows. give a needed protection for small erprises.

—Because of a prohibition in the 2—Because of a prohibition in bedding code against the use of a ond-hand material (which may unsanitary), the board emotionally defends the right of the poor people to have bedding made with second-hand goods. There is nothing to prehand goods. There is nothing to prevent poor people from buying second-hand bedding and having it renovated; but the code is designed to prevent selling second-hand articles as new—a fraud practiced particularly upon the poor cavalierly after hearing a few mal-contents for a few hours. We are still seeking the light on some of these points, but there is no light BOARD GIVEN POWEL OF "ECONOMIC SATRAP."

3-Because of a definition inserted in the boot and shoe manufacturing code to define the date from which a discount can be allowed (which would otherwise be undefined), the board reports that "monopolistic practices in this industry are acutely oppressive of small enterprises." Such an insertion of a necessary definition is described as a "practice of surrepritiously altering "practice of surreptitiously altering codes, which is most unfair, unreasonable, arbitrary and autocratic and clothes the administrator sonable, arottrary and autocratic sonable, arottrary and autocratic with the perilous power of an economic satrap." Thus a very small fly is crushed by a landslide of adjectives. The fact is that the code as "altered" was submitted by the trade association and received its assent before approval. The charges of the board are simply untrue.

4—Because of a minimum wage of 36 cents an hour for men and 32 1-2 cents for women, fixed in the woodcased lead pencil code, the report echoes the wailing of "the small manufacturer in the south who before a grave menace to health. For example, just this resulted in an epidemic of deadly amoebic dysentry in a Chicago hotel last summer. No legitimate little fellow needs that kind of protection or deserves that kind of privilege. It is dangerous chiseling—and the provision attacked is based on the grounds of fairness and public health. It has nothing to do with economics.

The report on the retail food and grocery code merely takes one side of two arguments which have been going on in NRA for two months and are not yet finally determined and makes one mistaken interpretation about a third.

PENCIL CODE PROVISIONS echoes the wailing of "the small manufacturer in the south who before the code paid an average wage of 23 cents per hour for men and 15 cents per hour for women." Here the board presents a sad but typical example of the "oppression of small enterprises" in being compelled to pay between $2.50 and $3 a day for the labor of adult men and women!

CEMENT CODE SETUP SCORED BY BOARD.

FOR SALARY CLEARED UP.

I understand that the mistaken strictures on the salary of the executive secretary of the lead pencil code authority have been cleared up, although the board did not take the trouble to find out that the budget including it has never been approved by NRA—nor to learn that the method of assessment and the charge on small companies which it criticized had been disapproved by NRA and a new and proper one submitted—nor to ascertain the fact that the 5-The board charges that the ce-ment institute, having drafted a code ment institute, having drafted a code "then turned a part of itself, mostly representative of larger companies, into the code authority to administer the code." The fact is that four members, a majority of the code authority, represent only 4 per cent of the productive capacity of the industry, two of these being executives of companies having not more than two mills and two others representing one plant each. nor to ascertain the fact that the administrator, and not (as they say) the code authoris, must pass on any suggested minimum prices—nor that no such minimum prices have been no such minimum prices have been approved.

They simply base their violent conclusions entirely on misrepresentations or errors on all these easily ascertainable facts which they could have avoided by consulting NRA. It criticizes a restriction on free small shipments of lead pencils as a burden on the little fellow when, in fact, it is just the reverse. Similarly, the board thinks that provisions to protect the public against seconds and culls are unfavorable to the little fellow.

NO EVIDENCE PRODUCED,
JOHNSON DECLARES.

Upon the above basis the report arrives at scathing conclusions on the evils of the codes in monopoly and oppression. The fact is that after three months of suppression of testimony from the record, refusal than two mills and two others representing one plant each.

The board recommends that "the basing point evil should be eliminated from this and other industries."

The fact is the code contains no provision concerning basing points, nor is anyone subject to the code prohibited from quoting f. o. b. mill prices. Other equally inaccurate of prices. Other equally inaccurate or misleading criticisms of the board are dealt with in the detailed report of the division administrator. 6—The lumber code is attacked in judicially in the attached report of the deputy administrator. OTHER COMMENTS SUBMITTED BY JOHNSON.

For the benefit of those concerned with the detailed reports of the board, brief commentaries of these reports are attached hereto, in which administrative officials of the NRA present the facts and issues involved on the basis of an intimate knowledge of the problems, which receive superficial consideration on the basis of limited and frequently wholly inaccurate information, relied upon by curate information, relied upon by the review board. The present general commentary may well conclude with a reference to the most significant example of

The control of the code provisions are prohibited advertising the truth.

EFFECT OF CHANGE STRONGLY ASSAILED.

This change, according to the review board, "thumps all life and validity out of the original intention and leaves it limp and meaningless."

The administrator is berated as a "military commander" exercising an "irresponsible dictatorship"—because to the scene and the railroad yards be did not prohibit truthful adver-

The board thus abandons its former contention that "fair competition" is an "illusion" and that price control is an abomination. The board not only denounces "cut-throt competition and ruinous price cutting" in regular NRA style, but goes on to demand that retailers be prevented from advertising, even truthfully, that they undersell competitors. Such building the state of the sta that they undersell competitors, Such a demand for price control and rea demand for price control and re-straints upon competition goes far beyond any program ever contem-plated by NRA. STAND IS REVERSED ON CUT-THROAT ISSUE.

Evidently the board has recanted the declaration in its first report that: "A return to the anti-trust laws for the purpose of restoring competition we believe to be one of the great needs of the times." It has now learned that cut-throat competition is an evil; that menopolies thrive under unrestrained competition is an evil; that menopolies thrive under unrestrained competition. tion is an evil; that monopolies thrive under unrestrained competi-tion; and that measures of price control frequently afford the only practical protection of small enterprises.

The board having denounced most vehemently various limited measures of price control as written in some codes, now, with charming inconsistently, demands more and tighter price control for the retail trades and the petroleum industry.

Since the review board now recognizes the evils of "cut-throat competition and ruinous price cutting" in some businesses, we may assume that in time the board will come to recognize the necessity of protecting.

9 COMPANIES JOIN PHONE RATE FIGHT

Governor Being Subpoenaed to July 5 Hearing in Federal Court.

While subpoenss were being issued Wednesday for Governor Eugene Talmadge, Chairman Jud P. Wilhoit, of the public service commission, and Comptroller General William B. Harrison, nine additional small telephone companies joined the Georgia Continental Telephone Company in seeking relief in federal court against further rate cuts by the commission.

The governor will be called into federal court July 5 in the phone companies' effort to have the public service commission cited for contempt and enjoined from issuing further rate reduction orders.

duction orders.
Subpoenas for the governor, Mr.
Wilhoit and Mr. Harrison were issued Wednesday and turned over to United States Marshal Louis B. Crawford to

Attorneys for the telephone companies said they would ask the governor, when he appears July 5, whether he had told the commissioners he would remove them from office if they did not reduce utility rates.

The Georgia Continental Lelephone Company Tuesday filed a petition in federal court asking that the public service commission be enjoined from further rate-cut orders and that all members of the commission be adjudged in contempt of court.

The other nine companies who Wednesday filed similar petitions in federal court were: Central Telephone Company, Chatti-worth Telephone Company, Consolidated Telephone Company, Dalton Telephone phone Company, Dalton Telephone Company, Douglas Telephone Company, Southeastern Telephone Company, Statesboro, Telephone Company and Thomaston Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The public service commission was served Wednesday with the papers in the Georgia Continental suit, and Chairman Wilhoit said he was confident the commission could justify its position at a hearing before a three-judge federal court.

In this week's issue of his newspaper. The Statesman, Governor Taimage congratulated the public service commission for "sticking on the job" in connection with the temphone rate reduction orders.

MINNEAPOLIS. June 27.—(P)—
The law captured a pawn in the John Dillinger game today but again failed, for the nonce, to checkmate the king—the arch felon who broke out of jail with a toy pistol at Crown Point, Indiana.

Weary from ceaseless flight from the law, Albert "Pat" Reilly, diminutive former baseball club mascot, blinked his eyes in an apartment today to find his bed surrounded by federal department of justice agents.
It was the end of the trail for Reilly, wanted on charges of harboring the outlaw fugitive in the Twin Cities more than two months ago; a trail that led throug's devious channels to Winona, Minn, a physician's home here in the night, and wary goings and comings to Little Bohemia, lake resort near Mercer. Wis.

Without weapons, Reilly offered no resistance as federal operatives closed in. He was taken to an undisclosed destination and held incommunicade.

It was Reilly, reported to have been named recently in a secret indietiment returned by a federal grand

Beer, Liquor Licenses Will Expire June 30

Federal liquor and beer licenses in Georgia must be renewed by June 30, W. E. Page, collector of internal revenue, warned Wednesday. He said that some dealers were still uncertain about whether, in view of a recent statement from Washington, these licenses would be renewed.

Mr. Page said he had had no instructions not to issue the licenses. These, however, must not be confused with stamps for liquor and for beer manufactured in Georgia. These will not be sold to dealers or to the Atlanta brewery.

The license, Mr. Page said, is a sort of open-door permit. It permits the dealer to handle liquor and beer upon which there are revenue stamps—wet goods that are brought into the wet goods that are brought into the state with stamps on them.

Although he intimated recently that the internal revenue department in Washington would stop shipments of beer and liquor into dry states, no official order to this effect has been issued by Guy T. Helvering, head of the bureau. It is known, however, that the important breweries have agreed not to ship beer into Georgia. Local dealers must buy it in the nearest wet state and truck it in themselves.

SCORED, DEFENDED

F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(P)—
The cost of the New Deal was made a republican campaign cry today, but the money appropriated by the democratic congress to carry out the recovery program was defended by a Roosevelt spokesman as necessary to beat the depression.

The statements, prepared for insertion in the last issue of the Congressional Record, reflected the arguments to be used by democrats and republicans in the forthcoming campaign for control of the house.

Representative Bolton, of Ohio, chairman of the republican congressional committee, said the 73d congress had obligated the government to and appropriated a total of $27,-000,000,000 since President Roosevelt entered the White House. He attributed to the democrats an "orgy of spending," said they operated the government on borrowed money, and predicted national bankruptcy as a result.

6-Cent Air Mail Rate Will Benefit Public

SCORED, DEFENDED

The Atlanta postoffice was notified officially Wednesday that the reduction in air mail postage would go into effect on July 1. It means a big saving to users of air mail, especially for those mailing letters weighing more than one ounce.

The old rate was 8 cents an ounce for the first ounce, and 13 cents for each additional ounce. The new rate is 6 cents an ounce regardless of how many ounces.

is 6 cents an ounce regardless of how many ounces.

To get around the 13-cent rate, users of air mail sending long letters have split them up into separate letters to take advantage of the 8-cent rate. Under the new rate, they pay 6 cents an ounce for one or more ounces. The new rate is expected to encourage a greater use of air mail.

DAYTON, Wash., June 27.—(P)—Old mother goose at the Fred Gilbert farm arose from the nest on which she had been setting and, presto, out walked four goslings.

Each of three had two distinct sets of wings while the fourth, just to be different, floundered about on four legs.

The passage which particularly has drawn my attention in Mussolini's re cent speech is the following one:

amounts to state capitalism.

It's the same thing with another name. Please note the implications. The state is not an entity which possesses any wealth of its own. If it is subsidizing three-quarters of the citizens, this must be done with funds drained out of the community as a whole. Mussolini has in effect said that only one-quarter of the Italian

NEW French Sensitive On Franc Matters. June 27 New evidence is to hand, tending to prove that the French they are a funny race, parley-voo, just as the A. E. F. suspected.

Last Saturday, at the Longchamps race course, a crowd of 100,000 Frenchmen and women burned cown seven pari-mutuel booths because the jockey aboard Mr. Joe Widener's steed, El Kantara, the favorite in a race, pulled up his horse and quit the contest. Frenchmen and women burned cown seven pari-mutuel booths because the jockey aboard Mr. Joe Widener's steed, El Kantara, the favorite in a race, pulled up his horse and quit the contest. Two other dashing chargers broke from the barrier in front of Mr. Widener's hide and when this happened, the driver' of El Kantara decided that he did not wish to ride horseback any more.

At this default, the citizens drained the gasoline out of a motorized lawnmower and doused it on the betting booths which were then set afire. There were indignant outcries, including ugly references to L'Affaire Stavisky.

The Krench horse given other exists the parity of the custody of the attorney-general of the United States for confinement in the penitentiary for a period of four and one-half years on each count on which he stands convicted."

The court inadvertently neglected to state that the sentences be concurrent, but said later that was what he meant, and he had that phrase insert-

Stavisky.

The French have given other evidence that they are, indeed, a funny race, parley-voo.

Another French crowd, convinced that two young puglists were putting forth a mockery and a travesty instead of their best efforts, expressed their annoyance by smashing the chairs and the ring and, finally, burning down the arena. And their persistent harking back to L'Affaire Stavisky, in which the citizens lost a few million francs through the failure of a pawn-shop, confirms the fundamental difference between the Frenchman and the American. From the Frenchman's standpoint, the Americans are also a race of the most droll, parley-voo. It is true that Stavisky several members of the French government were caught with their fingers in the cash register but still the peoples' resentment will be difficult for Americans to underseems to be that they nave not had the benefit of the wide experience which the Americans have enjoyed. The Americans have had affaires compared to which L'Affaire Stavisky is a case of petty larceny. But they never have lost their composure as the French did when the pawnshop proprietor, M. Stavisky forgot to take down the shutters of his place of business under the sign of the three balls. When the police broke in, they discovered the usual collection of second-hand banjos, boxing gloves and war medals. But much valuable jewelry was missing and so was l'oncle Stavisky who had sold an issue of bonds in his establishment under the sign of the three balls.

It would be terrible to magine the indignation of the French citizens if they should ever experience an Affaire Tammany Hall or an Affaire Teappot Dome or an Affaire Luke Lea et fil. Yet these are affairs which the Americans, with their unfailing sense of humor, have taken in their stride and with good-natured laughter. The French, who are indubitably a funny race, are extremely sensitive in all race, are extremely sensitive in all matters affecting their francs. The Americans, on the contrary, hold to a curious idea that it were cheap and un-American to evince any concern when they are victimized. Consequently, at the American horse parks, unscrupulous characters persistently deceive them by yelling "whoa" to the dashing chargers when they should yell "giddyap." Similarly, in the American ring, pugilists who are paid large sums to make le boxe, often withhold their best efforts and the citizens are only amused, not aroused to acts of arson. Nowadays in Chicago, they beg for the autograph of the sweet old gentleman who is the hero of L'Affaire Samuel Insull.

The American sense of humor at times prompts them to acts which, to the French citizen, exceed the bounds of humor and amount to silly extremes. In the case of the war debt the French citizens avoided all poetic non-sense to the effect that their purse was trash as compared to their good name. The Frenchman's purse is not trash and when the Etats Unis finally understands this it will be his turn to inquire "Who is funny now?"

In matters like L'Affaire El Kan-tara and L'Affaire Stavisky, the French cannot take it. But the Americans can take it. American politicians and financiers are espe-cially good at taking it.

The text of the British debt note follows:

After careful consideration of the note which you addressed to Sir. Ronald Lindsay on June 12, his majesty's government in the United Kingdom feel that there are two questions to which it may be useful to make further reference.

In the first place his majesty's government would observe that in their note of June 4 they did not state that payment of the British war debt was legally contingent upon payment of the debts due to them. NO COMMENT ON NOTE

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(P)—A

British reply that Great Britain was not prepared to make partial payment of its debt in goods and services was received by the state department today without comment.

The formal note, delivered to the state department by D. G. Osborne, charge d'affaires, rejected overtures made by Secretary Hull in a note of June 12.

The British note said the experience of German reparations had shown and clear that Great Britain had notified this country, in effect, that it would make no payment of any kind until the present debt funding agreement had been revised downward.

Secretary Hull's note on June 12, after setting forth the American position to British reasons for failing to payment in kind and hinted that such payments might open an avenue for settlement.

President Roosevelt and Hull both made clear that the American sugges-

"I Especially Urge Prospective Mothers to Take Scalf's Indian River Tonic."

Every authority on rubber play warns the player against doubling on a one-trick margin. This advice must be cast aside at the duplicate table, unless the play is team-of-four with accumulative scoring. Then the principles of rubber play are practically followed throughout.

In rubber play you are cautioned against a double unless the penalty is two tricks. You are also warned against making doubtful doubles below the game contract. You will find at duplicate that you will get many a well-earned top by doubling at low levels. Many times your opponents will bid three hearts and are set one trick. You glance at the score and see that the 50 points you score is average. Every other pair which has alone the same. age. Every other pair which has played the hand has done the same. Had you doubled you would have secured a clean top.

However, do not think that you must double every bid that looks in the slightest degree doubtful. You will find yourself getting many bottoms. Use common sense, but be slightly more inclined to double doubtful bids than at rubber bridge, especially if you and your partner are strong on the defense.

Many duplicate players use extreme-ly poor judgment in doubling non-vulnerable opponents for a two, or-possibly, three-trick set when they can make a vulnerable game. This is one of my greatest faults at the duplicate table. Unless you are certain you can set the opponents four tricks, don't give up a bid for game if you believe on have a fairly good play for it.
On the other hand, if you are not yulnerable and your vulnerable opponents bid a contract that you feel onfident you can beat two tricks, n't hesitate to double them. That O penalty will likely give you a top. both sides are vulnerable and you ee no chance for game, double any

I am telling today the story of because of the danger that the hand may be passed out. Any score you make is better than no score. On the other hand use judgment and exercise your knowledge of your opponents.

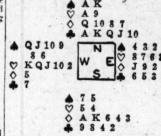

If you are playing against free bidders and light openers and find yourself in the third seat with two passes up to you, you can afford to open on a lighter hand than you would if your opponents are the extremely conservative type and probably have passed bids or near bids.

Nine Trumps Against You.

Here is the hand in which there are nine trumps, including the queen, against you. You playing south, have reached, through misunderstanding of bids with your partner, the astounding contract of six clabs. Against a trump opening you cannot make the bid. ### ECONOMIC POLICY OF U.S. CRITICISED BY SPEAKER HERE

The policy of the United States in attempting to maintain American prosperity is lowering the living standards of its middle class, Dean B. F. Brown, of the North Carolina State College at Raleigh, asserted Wednesday night at the Southern Institute of International Relations at Wesley Memorial auditorium.

Wesley Memorial auditorium.

The professor said the economic nationalism of the United States was to put up high tariff and to make "imperialistic ventures" into other countries, mainly in South America, with the view of maintaining its prosperity. On the contrary, the dean declared, this policy has tended to lower wages for the middle class and to raise prices of goods, thus lowering the standard of living. The policy also creates national ill will and, therefore, increases the cost of armies

MR. AND MRS. WYLIE HALL ARNOLD.

Glenn Memorial church provided the setting for the marriage of Miss Claire Dowman Hanner and Wylie Hall Arnold which was impressively solemnized on Wednesday evening 4: 6 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Warren Candler before a fashionable assemblage of relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom. A muscial program was rendered prior to the entrance of the bridal party, and the familiar and tuneful strains of the bridal chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin," heralded the approach of the bride and her wedding party. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played for the recessional.

Stately palms and cybodium ferns were massed in artistic arrangement on the altar, and seven-branched candelabra held white tapers. The chancel rail was beautified with garlands of smilax, and pews for the tamily were adorned with bows of white satin ribbon. The wedding music was played by Miss Eda Bartholomew, lifelong friend of the bride's family.

The musical program rendered by Miss Bartholomew preceding the ceremony included "The Benediction Nuptiale" by Dubois: "The Orange Blossom, included "The Benediction Nuptiale" by Priml; "The Love Song," by Nevin, and Wagner's "Evening Star." "I mean that if you oppose Gil's divorce he's going to sue here in New York and name Rene. He's already informed Rene of his intentions."

"So, that's why Rene, the little beast, has been clinging to Bubbles all thought he was jealous of Steve. He's bolting. I knew he was a slippery cad."

Sonny ignored the implication. "Steve's lived a normal life. simple, even frugal at times, I understand. He's like a man who has never taken drive. The first one makes him want to fly kites. Good night, Sandy. Castles in Spain to you. You've earned them."

of friends and relatives assembled to witness the marriage.

The interior of the church was elaborately adorned for the occasion, the decorations featuring a series of three graceful arches arranged across the rear of the pulpit and massed with plalms and cybotium ferns. Centering the altar rail in front of the central arch was a white wicker basket filled with white gladioli, the handle of the basket outlined with white waxen tapers. Flanking either side of the basket was a sloping seven-branched candelabrum, arising from a mound of Easter lilies. The other arches were centered with cathedral candelabra holding burning white tapers. The bridal couple knelt for the vows on a white satincovered prie-dieu, caught with clusters of white gladioli. Tall sheaves of white gladioli. Tall sheaves of white gladioli marked the pews reserved for members of the family connection.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Edwin L. Harling Jr., pianist, and Eugene E. Traber, soloist. Mr. Traber's selections included "For You. Dear Heart," "I Love Thee" and "Silent as Night, Deep as the Sea."

Her brunet beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown, an imported model of white Arabian lace. The square neckline was trimmed with a row of lace flowers with pearl centers. The long sleeves, very full above the elbow and fitting closely to the wrists, extended in points over the hands. The gown was fitted closely to the bride's slender figure in princess style to the knees where it flared to form a circular train. The veil of illusion tulle was held in place by a coronet of pastel garden flowers and were pre-sided over by Miss Josephine Lippold and Miss Frances Collier. Wedding Guests.

A color scheme of palest pink and white featured the decorations in All Saints' Episcopal church for the ceremony at which Miss Lily Sidney Furlong became the bride of Paul McClellan Bates at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Dean Raimundo de Ovies performed the ceremony in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends of the couple.

On either side of the chancel, palms and ferns were banked to form a background for the burning cathedra tapers. Roses, snapdragons and delphinium in tones of palest pink and white adorned the altar. At either end of the satin-covered prie-dieu were clusters of pink roses and snapdragons. Every fifth pew was marked with Bates and D. O. Chesnut Jr., of Atlanta.

IT'S UP TO THE WOMEN By Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

Following is one of a series of 60 articles in which the First Lady of the Land tells what she thinks about a variety of subjects close to the heart of all modern women. Every word has been written by Mrs. Roosevelt herself.

XXXIV—WIVES, HOLD YOUR JOBS!

I am getting innumerable appeals asking that married women be not allowed to hold jobs which might be filled by married men or single men and women. That point of view is perhaps necessary during an emergency and it may be necessary for a woman to relinquish voiuntarily her work if the man is earning enough for the family to live on, but as a permanent concession to the needs of society I rebel, for it seems to me that we have built up our nation on the theory that work is honorable; that those who can do something creative and productive may be doing some intangible good to their own souls, which, if they were not allowed to express themselves in enrichment of personality, and in their happiness, and therefore, in the end, a loss to themselves in enrichment of the community at large.

The problem is always an individual one which every woman must decide for herself, but if a woman wants to work and keep her home, let me beg you. Mr. Man, to help her and not hold her back.

If you are sympathetic and understanding, you will find her in the end a better helpmate and your co-operation will mean a better and happier understanding between you. If you she may give in to you, and you may wake up some day to find that you have a wife in your home who is an automaton—no longer a fulfilled and happy personality.

After all, as I have said, most woman is relationally and happily and happy personality.

After all, as I have said, most woman with the deep and help their children. Not only did the Canadian stars, Laird Watt and Bob Murray, both of McGill University, fall by the way-side today, but the fourth round play also saw the elimination of three of the large group of Pacific coast con-tenders.

REESE WINNER.

Only Bill Reese, fifth seeded, from Georgia Tech, dropped a set, but his win over Watt, the Canadian Davis cup player, by scores of 6-2, 3-6, 6-0, was considered in the nature of an upset, especially because of the dominion racquet wielder's good show-ing against Frank Shields in the re-cent American-Canadian Davis cup

Gene Mako, of Southern California, ranked second and considered the greatest threat to Tidball's continued reign in the intercollegiate net throne, hammered out a 6-2, 6-3 victory over George Stevens, one of two yale men to go out today.

In contrast to Tidball's at times erratic volleying ability, Mako, in his match, showed a powerful forehand.

George Zaharias Draws Suspension

BALTIMORE, June 27.—(R)—George Zaharias, 235-pound Greek-American wrestler from Pueblo, Col., was under permanent suspension to-day by the Maryland athletic com-mission for throwing, not Joe Savoldi, his 212-pound opponent, but Ed Brockman, the referee.

The feature bout on last night's wrestling card was abruptly ended after 14 minutes when Brockman tried to separate the two wrestlers, claiming Savoldi was being choked. Zaharias suddenly released the former Notre Dame star, exchanged cuffs with the referee and then tossed him through the ropes.

The commission ordered the match to be halted and sent the police into the ring to enforce the order. Fans immediately sent up a cry for their money back or the match to be con-tinued. Later Fred Schanberger, chairman of the commission, anounced the suspension and fine on

We Must Decide Whether or Not Ball Players Are Human Beingsl

Perhaps it is the fault of the dictionary which defines a ball player as one who plays ball. It overlooks entirely saying Murphy today gave the New York can warfare developed into an all-ametric to an headlines, manufactured for headlines, are saying that the Crackers will be shaken up; that players will put out or get out

> And ball players, being human being as well as ball players, read such stuff and say, "Phooie," and wonder why they ever tried to become ball players in the first place.

It isn't good psychology. It isn't good business and it isn't an aid to the sport itself. The sensational suspension and subsequent trading of Byrne James was handled very poorly. The management, of course, has a perfect right to suspend any player it cares to suspend. And to sell and trade same.

But to suspend a player and a good one who is a hardworking, faithful player with nothing of the malcontent about him, with the implication that he was not giving his best, seems most unjust. It was poorly handled.

Officials got together and wisely called off the deal sending James to Memphis. Perhaps James isn't the strongest player for the position. But the original deal was badly handled. The fans didn't care for it. Calling it off will cool them off. Congratulations are due Wilbert Robinson for his handling of the deal.

The whole point is-linen hung on the line may be seen by the neighbors. And from the time of Damocles on down no one has felt comfortable with the old ax just an inch or so from the cuticle of one's neck.

I am sure it's the fault of the dictionary. It doesn't say anything about a ball player being a human being. And the genus Homo Sapiens feels better, plays better and delivers better when he isn't reading about shake-ups, put-outor-get-out and so forth.

WHY, THOMAS!

Thomas Watkins, who was about to trade an injured player for a good one, insists he will fight to make the James deal bringing James to Memphis.

Thomas Watkins is talking through his fedora. It is an old established baseball law that the club president must ratify every deal made. Until his signature is on the contract it has the same status as that given the Belgian treaty by the German war lords—just a scrap

The other easterner to reach the quarter-finals was eighth seeded, 18-year-old Gilbert Hunt, of Massachusetts Tech, who had things pretty has been rated as a smart trader. And he lost this one.

His injury is a curious coincidence. The Vols wer on the way to a pennant in 1923 with Richbourg, Kiki Cuyler and Bevo LeBourveau in the outfield. Richbourg broke a leg in Chattanooga and the Vols started downward, finishing in fifth place. But Lance Richbourg has always been in first place in the

THOSE FIGHT PICTURES.

Having seen Max Baer belt Primo Carnera around in the Madison Square Garden bowl a couple of weeks ago and take the title from the Italian, I had the pleasure yesterday of seeing Hunt for Knight the fight pictures.

Carnera should insist on the pictures being shown. They prove two things: 1-That he was never in the fight.

2-That he did say something to the referee in that eleventh round when the fight was stopped and that he made an appealing gesture.

But what is more important to the Italian is they do not show how badly he was beaten. They do not show him bleeding from cut lips and twisted nose; they do not show, but once, how terrified he was. The feint by Baer, and the horrified backward leap by Carnera, got laughs yesterday. This was the time Bacr said, "Boo" as he feinted.

In fact, the pictures make the Italian look quite good for a time. They do show his left, which the radio reports made so much of, is just a push, as was stated. But the pictures show only a part of the sneering, jeering, snarling animal that Baer was that hot evening as he slaughtered the Italian.

The pictures are to be shown at the Grand theater later in the week. They are worth while and quite interesting pictures of the science of winning a world's championship. And, oh yes! Listen for one of those rights to explode on mera's jaw. It sounds like a giant firecracker going off! Carnera's jaw. It sounds like a giant firecracker going off!

IS THERE A LIP READER IN THE HOUSE?

A lip reader might have himself a lot of fun at the pictures. Baer may be seen talking to Carnera, sneering at him with a lot of talk as he takes some of the falling champion's pushes.

And Primo said, after the fight, that Baer "talked mean to him." I wouldn't be at all surprised.

NO LIMP IN EVIDENCE.

Carnera's claim that he fractured his ankle in the first round is not substantiated by the evidence. He appears to be a bit flat-footed about midway of the tenth round. But it is ridiculous to assume he had that bone chipped in the first round. He

IS THIS A PLOT?

Hank Leiber is recalled from Nashville by the Giants and now Lance Richbourg is reported out with an injured foot.

The office cynic was around saying it was just a plot by those Nashvilles to forestall the splitting of the Southern Association season.

And that as soon as the split season was refused, Hank Leiber would be returned and Lance Richbourg would whittle the cast off his foot and take up his bat again.

Which, of course, isn't true. It would not be surplied to the split in the cast of the specific of the surpliers of the surpl

I can see why he was trying to do something to get the team out of the losing streak. However, he told he that any decision I make in the case will be all right with him." Yesterday James received a telegram from "Doc" Prothro, Memphis manager, ordering him to report there at once. He answered that he would not report in much the same language mentioned above. The Cracker second baseman played brilliant ball during the club's last home stretch here, fielding sensationally and boosting his hitting averiant tic threats of Tom Watkins. "Of course Tom is mad. Who wouldn't be, losing a chance to have a $5,000 ball player like James handed to him and his club only a game or so behind ours? Well, he might as well get over it. He isn't going to get James for a player like Redfern, not as long as I'm president of this club." It is needless to state that Mr. Rob in Little Rock.

"Nosirree, Mr. Watkins can't get away with a fast one like that. It's bad enough for him to try and run this league, let alone grabbing off a ball player without questioning me. It's "no deal," as far as I'm concerned, and if it goes through it will be over my dead body."

Robby considers James a very val-uable player and a young one with a good future. He looks upon the even swap for Redfern, admittedly on his last legs at Memphis, as an unfair one, both to the Atlanta club and to James.

2. James, himself, refuses to report to Memphis.

3. Robinson, as club president, had not ratified the agreement, as required not ratified the agreement, as required by baseball regulations.

Despite insistence of Thomas R. Watkins, president of the Memphis club, that the trade agreement be enforced to the letter, and that James report immediately, President Robinson cited National Baseball Association statutes to the effect that a president of a club must ratify any transaction regarding players before it becomes effective.

"ROBBY" PROTESTS

"ROBBY" PROTESTS. In view of the fact that President Robinson was out of the city (visiting his club at Charlotte) and was uninformed as to complete details of the trade, he did not have an opportunity to consider it and therefore, it was not constitutional from a baseball standpoint in that it did not have his "okay."

John D. Martin, president of the Southern league, upon query of The Constitution last night, upheld Robinson's stand on the case and agreed that the deal would have to have his official sanction before it was to be transacted.

In other words, Byrne James will remain as the Cracker second base-man, despite all importunities of the Chickasaw president. "I consider James the best second baseman in the league today and I am sure that whatever misunderstanding may exist between him and Manager Abbott can be ironed out satisfactorilly," Uncle Robby stated last night.

rorlly, Uncle Robby stated last night.

"We have not the slightest intention of getting rid of James, certainly not unless we get a player of equal caliber. And I do not consider the player we were to get a fair swap.

"We paid the New York Giants good money for James and he has, to my way of thinking, been worth every cent of it. He is hitting around .295—more than we expected of a second baseman—and has been playing a great defensive game besides. I am sure that James, being a very sensible boy, and Abbott, with his long experience at handling players, will adjust their differences and that everything will be all right."

James, himself, upon returning to Atlanta yesterday from Little Rock, refused to make any criticism of the Cracker manager in the case. He stated, however, that he tiked playing ball in Atlanta and that he would refuse to report to Memphis, regardless of whether the trade went through crust.

"I like Atlanta as a baschall to."

By Betty Mathis.

She had just finished a swift set of tennis as the victor. She stopped talk of her freshman year at Converse College, just past.

"Our gym suits are really pretty. I have on mine; now."

Margaret Smith, the speaker, was clad in an attractive bright green romper suit worn over a white shirt. She was struggling into a white sweat shirt. Green and white socks complete the uniform. Margaret is an alumna of Girls' High school, where in her senior year she won the singles tennis tournament. She also won, with Carlton

Margaret wanted to play hockey at college this year, but she sprained her ankle at the wrong time. Another disappointment was the fact that it rained on field day. She was slated for the standing broad jump and 1,500-yard dash. She does well in these events. these events.

Next year Margaret thinks she will be able to win the tennis champion-ship of Converse. The winner of the tournament for three straight is entitled to keep the silver loving cup offered by the school. This feat has been accomplished only once in the history of the school. And Margaret is going to try very hard to take that cup home to Atlanta with her next year.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(P)—The stock market resumed its aimless drifting course today after rallying tending. trading.

Financial markets were pervaded by an undertone of firmness, but speculative interests clung to a waiting attude.

Metal, sugar and packing shares provided some of the outstanding gains of the slow-moving session.
Buying in those groups was motivated chiefly by prospect of profits from inventory appreciation.

Transfers of the stock exchange approximated yesterday's volume, totaling 628,890 shares, compared with

The market turned irregular after yesterday's rally had carried into early trading. The Standard Statistics Company average for 90 stocks, most active issues, dipped three-tenths of a point to 78.8, although gains outnumbered losses in the share list.

Shares Advance.

Advances.

Advances ranged from fractions to more than 2 points among Armour of Illinois preferred. Wilson preferred. Cuban-American Sugar preferred. United States Smelting, American Metals, American Telephone and American Bank Note.

A few relatively inactive issues scored wideg ains. Homestake Mining, leading domestic gold stock, added nearly 10 points to its previous advance as it hit 410, a new vious advance as it hit 410, a new vious advance as it hit 410, a new peak. G. W. Helme jumped 7 1-2 points to a new top. A further gain of 2 1-2 points carried Santa Fe preferred to a new high. People's Drug spurted 4 points to touch a 1934 peak.

Leaders Sag.

Leaders Sag.

United States Steel common, American Can, General Motors, du Pont, Chrysler and other old-time industrial leaders sagged fractionally as professional speculative play turned to the selling side. Rails were mixed.

commodities settled into a narrow range and price movements were spotty. Wheat closed unchanged to 3-8 of a cent a bushel higher. Corn and rye were firm. Cotton reacted to close 40 to 55 cents a bale lower. Silver futures continued firm.

A further rally in the German mark, despite the fact German gold reserves have almost reached the vanishing point, contrasted with a somewhat easier tone in most European currencies against the dollar. Bond trading and prices marked time.

Steel shares were no weaker than the performance of the market generally warranted, despite prediction of a further decline in operations.

STOCK OPINIONS.

PENNER & BEANE-Wednesday's moderate recession, in our opinion, does not signify a resumption of the recent decime. We believe it represents further acceughtening of a base for a sustained upward move-

BEER & COMPANY—The lack of selling BEER & COMPANY—The lack of selling Wednesday was a favorable indication of sechnical strength at the present point.

DOBBS & COMPANY—The market is likely to be dull Thursday as traders are ther sharp drop in steel production ahead it is unlikely that the market can get above last week's highs for the time being. We are more likely to see a 'est of recent lows and in the meantime we defer judgment.

COTTON OPINIONS
FENNER & BEANE—Trading sentiment is bullish and indications are that the market will continue on the upgrade as long as the Texas drouth continue.

BEER & COMPANY—Private reports continue to stress crop deterioration in Texas and we continue to favor buying cotton on setbacks for quick turns.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—As long as the present hot, dry weather continues in Texas we favor purchases of cotton on all dips.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(P)—Leading curb exchange stocks made substantial advances in the most active session in several weeks today. Oil stocks and industrials seemed to be favored by traders and many of them improved one to two and in some instances as much as three points, before moderate profit taking reduced the gains just before the close. Transfers approximated 174,000 compared with 142,000 Tuesday.

The improvement in speculative sentiment, first evident in the closing hour of the previous session, was noted again at the outset of today's trading and brokers reported a substantial amount of short covering within the first two hours during which time the greatest gains were made.

Armour & Co. new pfd. gained 2.1.2 paints to close at 61 1-4, and

Armour & Co. new pfd. gained 2 1-2 points to close at 61 1-4, and the common improved fractionally, although other packing shares, including two issues of Swift & Co., were virtually unchanged in a small turnover. Consolidated Mining gained 3 points, as did Pan-American Airways and issues advancing around 2, intelligible of the control of Glass, and Sherwin-Williams.

Fractional to one point advances occurred in American Gas. Niagara Hudson Power, International Petroleum, Safety Car, Standard Oil of Indiana, and Tubize Chatillon.

Lake Shore Mines and Newmont Mining closed fractionally lower, as did Electric Bond & Share and Fisk Rubber.

NEW YORK, June 27 .- (UP)-NEW YORK, June 27.—(UP)—
The stock market commission tonight was Wall Street's chief worry.
During the day there came increasing indications that Ferdinand Pecora, dynamic counsel to the senate finance committee, would be a member. He has indicated willingness to serve one year as chairman.

has indicated willingness to serve one year as chairman.
Wall Street had crossed fingers about this. Traders had more or less accepted the thought that James M. Landis, young member of the federal trade commission and an adviser of President Roosevelt. would be chairman. While not particularly favorable to the Street, Landis was considered religible.

able to the Street, Landis was considered reliable.

Tonight views were being readjusted in keeping with the Pecora announcement as some feared he might favor too rigid control of the market. Some of this belief was shown today when the market, after a fairly convincing opening led by mining shares, slowly slid off to close irregularly lowers. Trading continued dull. er. Many believed some reas-suring message on industry and mone-tary problems would come. Some were hopeful for an inkling of fur-ther dollar devaluation and bought fairly heavily into gold stocks during the morning trading today with that in wind in mind.

Momentarily the market is drifting. The tide is absent. In such a market chances are far too dangerous and conservative brokers and traders tonight continued to warn that sideline positions were best at least until the commission definitely is known. That may be some time this week. Meanwhile points before traders tonight included:

Prices rose after the call, with July recovering to yesterday's closing and other months going 2 to 4 points net higher, with December selling at 12.60.

This rise was met by realizing and the selling became more active after the publication of the official weather record.

the publication of the official weather report.

Offerings were not particularly heavy, but renewed talk of inflationary possibilities and prospective government purchases for relief failed to stimulate aggressive buying. July worked off to 12.12 and December to 12.47 in the late trading, making net losses of 9 to 13 points on active positions. Closing quotations were at or within a point or two of the lowest.

The detailed weather reports showed light showers at four stations in the coast section of Texas, with showers at five points in Mississippi and one point in Alabama, but otherwise no precipitation was noted.

Private complaints of drouthy conditions continued to reach the trade from the southwest, but they were without much effect on the market.

According to the weekly report of the weather bureau, weather conditions have been unfavorable for weekly and Alabama during the past week.

Additional July notices representing about 5,200 bales were issued here this morning and caused some further near-month liquidation.

LIQUOR CAR TAKEN BY DEKALB POLICE BEYOND BUCKHEAD

A liquor car carrying 150 gallons of whisky, and a man and woman who allegedly drove a "cover car" for the liquor runner, were captured in too small to do satisfactorily in ap-plique. She knew, even expert needle-woman as she was, that she could scarcely get all the circles true and a hail of shot from DeKalb county police on Peachtree road beyond Buck-head shortly after noon Wednesday. Officers J. T. Dailey and Ed Fos-ter driving a policy are

Unless it happens that your parents are fanatical they won't set 21 as an arbitrary age limit at which you can can date the boys. They will give you liberty as you persuade them that you won't abuse it or let it interfere with your school work. They know there is no charm in a twenty-first birthday that makes a folish girl sensible and that makes a foolish girl sensible and capable of handling her own affairs. They are assuming, as does the state and society, that in five years, when you have reached the voting age, you will have judgment partially matured you have reached the voting age, you will have judgment partially matured and a sense of propriety developed to the point that you will not need their guardianship. They know at least that you won't have to accept it.

However, the fault, if fault there be, is not all yours. Mothers and daughters don't reach this sort of an impasse if the mother has done her part. A well-bred girl whose mother has kept close to her through the trying period of transition from adolescence to young ladyhood doesn't believe that friendly kissing is proper. She may indulge in a friendly kiss but she does it on the sly, knowing all the while that it is off-color. She doesn't feel resentful to her mother for restrictions that are imposed. She understands that the mother's one idea for restrictions that are imposed. She understands that the mother's one idea is her happiness and her ultimate welfare and even when she is disappointed at not having things to suit herself she realizes that her best friend wouldn't be unfair to her.

The path around this impasse lies in friendship and it begins at the point where the girl reaches adolescence. The mother must find it if it is to be found.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am writing to agree with your correspondent who said that when a man strayed from the fireside it was generally his wife's fault. If a woman can just manage to be as sympathetic and as attractive to be as sympathetic and as attractive after marriage as she was before, she can hold her husband's love without any trouble. But so many women get married for what they can get out of it that they cease to try to please their men after they have secured what they went after. A woman has the whip handle too, for she can discard her husband as she would an old shee, but the man has to beg her to let him husband as she would an old shoe, but the man has to beg her to let him have a divorce. I have a friend who has been long separated from a wife he never loved. A lovely girl who had such an influence over him that she changed him from a wastrel to a decent, upright man has had to wait and wait for a selfish wife to let him loose. Love does sneak up on an unhappily married man without his knowing it. Your correspondent was right in saying so. Sometimes a man and woman are thrown together and fall in love without any intention of doing so and without ever a word of love passing between them but they are certainly in hard luck if a selfish wife refuses to permit the divorce that would make them hapy. NO, NOT A CAPE . . . SOMETHING MORE CLEVER!

In the darkness, partially dispelled by faint moonlight, Tarzan spread some skins on the floor against the wall opposite the window, lay down, and was soon fast asleep. In the apartment above two men crouched in the dark beside the window directly above Tarzan.

For an hour they crouched there in silence: then the smaller man arose. One end of a long rope was knotted about his body beneath his arm-pits; in his right hand he carried a slim deggersword. Cautiously he went to the window, his gaze searching the grounds below.

Then he swung his legs through the window; and the larger man, holding the rope with both hands, braced himself. Handover hand, silently, he low-ered his companion in crime until the smaller man's feet rested on the sill of Tarzan's window. Still the ape-man slept!

Driving at Twilight Records from a score of cities prove that the most dangerous time of the day for both pedestrians and motorists is at dusk. There is neither enough daylight nor sufficient artificial light. This is the hour, too, when meterists are most likely to find children playing in the streets. No matter how carefully you drive, exert just a little extra caution during this most dangerous time of the day.

Split Season Now Imminent

Instead of minimizing the chances for a split season in the Southern league, the injury to Lance Richbourg and recalling of Leiber by the Giants, taking two star hitters away from Nashville, may hasten it.

The Atlanta club yesterday received first overtures from several other clubs, seeking a split season. One league director pointed out that all clubs would have a chance with the Vols in the last half, mentioning the crippling of the Nashville club. President Wilbert Robinson still remains non-committal on

Middle Georgia

The schedule of the Middle Georgia league for the second half has been changed slightly. Kincaid Mills of Griffin has been put in place of Newman, and this necessitates a slight rearrangement of cates so that the Griffin team and the Kincaid team will not be playing at home on the same dates. The same situation exists at East Thomaston where that team and the Slivettown team draw from the same crowd.
